Jose Mateo Ballet: Hot for 2003-04

Jose Mateo's Ballet Theatre sold out so many shows last year that the company has added 10 more performances to its 2003-04 season. "Undercurrents," Oct. 3-26 at the Sanctuary Theatre in Harvard Square, includes a revival of Mateo's 1990 Stravinsky-inspired "The Last Circus" and a premiere set to Schumann. "Nutcracker" (Nov. 28-Dec. 28) will have new choreography, scenic design and costumes. Mateo promises "The Cuban Condition," presented in March and April of 2004, will go "beyond the typical precedents that illustrate the popular fusion of European and African dance and musical forms." Call 617-354-7467.
